[redacted] the Tactical Defense Caucus (TDC). [redacted] FBI Chicago will attempt to determine if [redacted] and [redacted] plan to attend the conference in Chicago. Their presence in the area is cause for concern since the objective of the TDC is to provide firearms training to anarchist and other left-wing groups, in preparation for the unavoidable war with the right-wing.

In general, law enforcement representatives who monitored BTC 2003 felt that younger participants were not particularly interested in the stories of the 1960's and 1970's "political prisoners." They were more interested in learning about current prisoners, including [redacted] and [redacted] imprisoned for criminal activity on behalf of the Earth Liberation Front (ELF). [redacted] the conference and included anti-BTC rhetoric as well as a call for activists to engage in illegal direct action in furtherance of the prisoner support/prison abolition movement.

It appears [redacted] to facilitate reconciliation and solidarity within the anarchist movement, particularly between the ABCN and the ABCF, and any other groups whose main focus is prison support. In that respect, Prison Abolition conference III may include speakers and attendees more focused on anarchy and prison abolition and less on Marxism and the political upheaval of the 1960's and 1970's. It should be noted, however, the ABC in general models themselves after the radical groups of the 60's and 70's, and considers individuals imprisoned for activities during that time as martyrs. The current ABC looks to the older "revolutionaries" for guidance, and there will always be interaction between the them.

FBI Chicago will continue to [redacted] b7E
[redacted] speakers and attendees of Prison Abolition Conference III. It is expected that several of the speakers and attendees at BTC 2003 will be in Chicago. In view of the expected attendees criminal backgrounds, outspoken support of direct action and propensity towards the use of violence as a viable means for change, FBI Chicago will attempt to determine who actually attends the conference. [redacted] As the conference approaches, FBI Chicago will solicit other FBI Field Divisions for any intelligence regarding speakers, attendees and possible criminal activity.

In view of the violent criminal backgrounds of several of the speakers, and the proclivity of younger anarchists to engage in criminal behavior in the name of anti-globalization and similar issues, FBI Portland monitored the conference with the assistance of local law enforcement and members of the FBI Los Angeles Joint Terrorism Task Force (JTTF). [redacted] attended the conference as well as individuals from various locations throughout the United States.
